Four minutes—that's 240 seconds—is all it takes for permanent brain damage to occur when a person's heartbeat stops or they stop breathing as result of a heart attack, drowning, choking or electrical shock. It could happen to anyone any time. It could happen to you. Are you prepared to act? Do you know how to use an Automated External Defibrillator (AED) and easily shock someone's heart back in rhythm? Sign up today for the CPR Mass Training, Saturday, September 21, 2002. Learn how to save the life of a loved one. Learn CPR and AED at the Rice University Main Gym. It's easy to learn, call (713) 222-CARE to register
