About the Authors

Dorothy Zayatz Baker holds a PhD in comparative literature and is professor of English at the University of Houston. Her most recent book is Gothic America: The Legacy of Magnalia Christi Americana. Her translation of Christine Buci-Glucksmann's La folie du voir is forthcoming in 2012.

Marek Jan Chodakiewicz is professor of history at the Institute of World Politics in Washington, DC. His numerous books deal primarily with twentieth-century Eastern European history.

Katarzyna Cieplińska is a Polish-English translator and a lecturer at the Józef Rusiecki Olsztyn University College.

Raymond T. Gawronski, SJ, is professor of dogmatic theology at St. John Vianney Theological Seminary in Denver, CO. He is the author of Words and Silence: Hans Urs von Balthasar and the Spiritual Encounter between East and West (1995).

Howard Louthan is professor of history at the University of Florida. He specializes in the cultural and intellectual history of Central Europe.

Terrence O'Keeffe was trained as an anthropologist and worked as a research scientist studying non-human primate behavior. He writes both fiction and non-fiction. His non-fiction book dealing with a famous Austro-Hungarian army espionage case and its long afterlife in art, The Posthumous Lives of Colonel Redl, is scheduled for publication in 2011.

Cyprian Kamil Norwid (1821–1883) competes with Adam Mickiewicz and Juliusz Słowacki for the title of the greatest poet of Polish Romanticism.

Tomasz Sommer is a Polish scholar and journalist. He obtained his PhD in sociology from the Polish Academy of Sciences in Warsaw. In addition to being the author of numerous books, he is managing editor of the weekly Najwyższy Czas.

Leo Yankevich is an American poet.

Thank you Note

We are grateful to those readers who support the Sarmatian Review over and above the price of subscription. Without them, it would be exceedingly difficult to continue the publication of our journal. Donations to Sarmatian Review and its publisher, the Polish Institute of Houston, are tax deductible. Below is the list of donors between April 2011-July 2011:

Dr. Aleksandra Ziolkowska-Boehm and Mr. C. Norman Boehm; Professor Ralph Frankowski and Mrs. Elizabeth Frankowski; Professor Richard J. Hunter, Jr.; Mr. Steven Kaminski; Professor Joseph A. Kotarba; Professor Bogna Lorence-Kot; Rev. Walter J. Rakoczy; Mr. William J. Zoltowicz.
