

The Sarmatian Review (ISSN 1059-5872) is a triannual publication of the Polish Institute of Houston. The journal deals with Polish, Central, and Eastern European affairs, and it explores their implications for the United States. We specialize in the translation of documents. Sarmatian Review is indexed in the American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies, EBSCO, and P.A.I.S. International Database. From January 1998 on, files in PDF format are available at the Central and Eastern European Online Library (www.ceeol.com). Subscription price is $21.00 per year for individuals, $28.00 for institutions and libraries ($28.00 for individuals, $35.00 for libraries overseas, air mail). The views expressed by authors of articles do not necessarily represent those of the Editors or of the Polish Institute of Houston. Articles are subject to editing. Unsolicited manuscripts and other materials are not returned unless accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope. Please submit your contribution electronically and, if requested, send a printout by air mail. Submissions and Letters to the Editor can be emailed to <sarmatia@rice.edu>, with an accompanying mailing return address. Other letters and subscription queries should be emailed to <sarmatianreview@yahoo.com>. Subscription checks should be mailed to The Sarmatian Review, P. O. Box 79119, Houston, Texas 77279-9119. The Sarmatian Review retains the copyright for all materials included in print and online issues. Copies for personal or educational use are permitted by section 107 and 108 of the U.S. Copyright Law. Permission to redistribute, republish, or use SR materials in advertising or promotion must be submitted in writing to the Editor.

About the Authors

Sally Boss is one of the founders of Sarmatian Review.

Agata Brajerska-Mazur is an Associate Professor of Comparative Literature at the Catholic University of Lublin.

Patrick Corness is a Visiting Professor of Translation at Coventry University.

Richard J. Hunter, Jr. is a Professor of Legal Studies and International Business at Seton Hall University.

Bronisław M. J. Kamiński is Editor of Almanach Kudowski, a biannual publication on society and politics in the Lower Silesian city of Kudowa-Zdrój. His family settled in Kudowa after being expelled from western Ukraine by the Soviets (the expulsions were massive and took place after the Second World War).

Bożena Karwowska is an Associate Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of British Columbia and a noted interpreter of literature associated with German concentration camps.

Farrah Madanay is a Rice University student who took a course on the Holocaust and participated in a standard American tour of Auschwitz and other German concentration camps in the part of Poland occupied by Germans during the Second World War.

Leo V. Ryan, C.S.V., is a Professor Emeritus at DePaul University, Chicago, Illinois.

Maciej B. Stępień earned his Ph.D. in history at the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin. His field of interest is early modern, modern, and recent history of ideas. His writings can be found at www.maciejbstepien.com.

Ewa Wampuszyc is an Assistant Professor of Polish at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
